JURY TO FIX BLAME FOR RIOT AT TULSA

Governor and Citizens Condemn Conduct of the Police

TOLL IS 30 DEATHS

Citizens to Form Committee to Reconstruct Homes in Burned Area—Tulsa Is Again Normal

Tulsa, Okla., June 3.—District Judge Vaijean Biddison called a special grand jury yesterday as the first step in an investigation of the Tudsa race riot, which, starting Tuesday night and extending well in to Wednesday, resulted in many casualties and much property damage.

The grand jury, calling of which followed the receipt by Judge Biddison of a letter from Gov. J. B. A. Robertson, will convene June 8. In his letter asking that an investigation be started, the State Executive also asked that the conduct of the Police Department and the Sheriff's office, which he condemned, be investigated.

According to the latest authentic report nine whites and 21 negroes are known to have been killed during the race clash. An estimate places property damage at $1,500,000. All this, according to General C. F. Barrett, commanding the State troops called here to maintain martial law, was incited by "an impudent negro, a hysterical girl and a yellow journal reporter."

Representative citizens of Tulsa met yesterday and condemned the city and county law enforcement officials, holding them responsible for the disastrous outbreak. In addressing this meeting General Barrett stated that while he was odering the withdrawal of the National Guard from Tulsa there was no intention to remove the martial law edict until such time as it was shown the city could care for itself.

A committee, on which Mayor T. D. Evans was denied a place, was appointed to care for the helpless negroes, estmitaed to number more than 3,000 and to expedite the work of rebuilding the burned negro quarter.

Most of this damage was done by white criminals, who should have ben shot and killed," E. J. Martin, former Mayor, said after he was elected chairman of the emergency committee."

"As the final outcome we must rebuild these homes, see that these negroes get their insurance and get their claims against the city and county," the chairman said.

Many negroes left Tulsa yesterday The Red Cross offered to provide transportation for any destitute who wanted to leave, although no effort was made to have the negroes leave

A subscription of $500,000 will be asked, the committee announced last night, and the homes owned by the negroes will be reconstructed. The committee also voted to employ immediately as extra policemen 50 members of the American Legion A sum for their pay for 30 days was appropriated, after which efforts will be made to continue them with city funds.

Thirteen bodies of negroes were buried in the city cemetery here yesterday. The act was without ceremony, it being said that feeling possibly might might flare up if the burial were attended by any ostentation. The bodies were interred in plain wooden boxes.

Tulsa last night had regained its normal appearance, the regular policemen patroling the downtown district, and the martial law declared yesterday was relaxed sufficiently to permit business houses and theatres to operate as usual. About 250 National Guardmen were returned to tehir home stations last night, leaving approximately 300 men in control of the area.

Whereabouts of Dick Rowland, 19 year old negro boobblack, over whose safety white men and negroes clashed initially, still was unknown publicly. The negro was secreted away during the rioting. There is a police charge of assault against him in connection with alleged attentions to a young white woman elevator operator here.

U. O. V. ENDS ITS CENTENNIAL

Dr. Hugh Hampton Young Delivers Adress at Banquet

SCOUTS WAR TALK

Calls on English Speaking People to Assure World Peace—Duty of Universities.

Charlottesville, Va., June 3.—The formal celebration of the centennial of the University of Virginia came to an end last night with a banquet in the historic rotunda. John Stewart Bryan, rector of the university, presided and addresses were delivered by Dr. Woodburn Chase, president of the University of North Carolina; Thomas Watt Gregory, former Attorney General of the United States; Dr. Hugh Hampton Young of Baltimore, president of the General Alumni Association of the university, and Gabriel Hanotaux, commander of the French Legion of Honor.

In his address Dr. Chase said that it was the task of the universities of the South "to guide, focus to interpret to themselves and to the world this great forward, upward movement of democracy."

Featuring yesterday's part of the centennial exercises were addresses by Sir Auckland Geddes, British Ambassador to the United States, and Dr. John Bassett Moore, Hamilton Fish professor of international law in Columbia University.

Ambassador Geddes, speaking in a loud, clear voice that could be heard by all of the thousands who packed the large amphitheatre, emphasized the impossibility of war between England and the United States, and said he wished to see "the English-speaking people of the world banded together in leadership of all the nations to the era of world peace."

After describing war as futile and unnecessary, he said that it was the duty of every university to give its students a true understanding of the cost of war in order to stave off future conflicts.

"I have noticed that when I, as British Ambassador, speak of peace I am usually supposed by some to dread the immediate or early outbreak of war between your nation and mine," he declared.

"May I say that I am not so silly? The continuance indefinitely into the future of peace between our people is so obvious a necessity of our national lives that I do not dream of the contingency of its rupture. What I am concerned with is something that seems to me far greater and nobler. I wish to see the English-speaking people of the world banded together in leadership of all the nations to the era of world peace, and as a first step to the era in which the wars, which even now we can recognize as futile and unnecessary, are done with forever."

"I believe most profoundly that it is the duty of every university to plant in the minds of its intellectual children a true understanding of the cost of war, so that never light heartedly will they let their nation turn to the dread arbitrament of arms. I have acknowledged that in the world as it is, the choice for a nation may be to fight or die, but I believe that now is the time for the English-speaking people, with their great and peculiar advantages, to resolve that never again will they permit this fair world to be devastated by unnecessary war, if by standing firmly together they can prevent it."

Dr. Moore, in his address, deplored the "passionate excitement," resulting from the war, which, he said, caused wholesale attacks upon persons of a particular faith or creed. There is a tendency, he declared, to regard differences of opinion as a menace and something to be suppressed.

"Today our eyes and ears are constantly assailed with wholesale attacks upon persons of a particular creed, attacks which, if not inspired by passionate excitement, would be regarded as purely wanton. Such things can only be deplored as manifestations of human traits which, fortunately, are manifested chiefly under abnormal conditions."

A largely attended meeting of the Old Dominion Boat Club was held last night.

George D. Hopkins, chairman of the board of trustees reported that the legal matters connected with transfer of new property of club were about completed and transfer would probably be made within the next week.

Several crews will be sent to the Southern Rowing Association Regatta at Baltimore next month and local regattas will probably be held here and in Washington. Sampson, one of the owners of the speed boat "Geraldine," has kindly offered its services to the club as a coach boat.

A number of members who have been away attending college, have returned and were present. A "welcome home" smoker will probably be arranged the latter part of this month when all of them have reached home.

ORDINATION AT EPISCOPAL SEMINARY

One Priest and Four Deacons Are Ordained This Morning

MANY ATTEND SERVICE

Bishop Suerry Ordains His Own Son —Bishop Brown Presides—Library Dedicated

With ordination services this morning at 11 o'clock in the chapel, the ninety-eighth annual closing exercises of the Episcopal Theological Seminary of Virginia were brought to a close. One was ordained priest and four were ordained deacons. The exercises were presided over by Rt. Rev. William Cabell Brown, D. D., Bishop of the Episcopal Church in Virginia, who conducted the ordination services and the sermon was preached by Rev. William A. Guerry, D. D., bishop of South Carolina.

W. F. Shacklette was ordained priest and the following were ordained deacons by Bishop Brown, Douglas W. Neff, C. L. Monroe and Robert A. Magill.

The ordination ceremonies were attended by a large gathering of officials of the Episcopal Church, many of whom came from distant points, and they were very impressive.

The notable feature of the graduation exercises at the Seminary yesterday afternoon was the dedication of the new Packard-Laird Library building. This is the most beautiful building on the "Hill" and is a memorial to the late Dean Packard and to his son-in-law, Rev. Dr. Laird of Delaware. After the luncheon which was very largely attended and served in the library, a portrait of Dr. Packard was unveiled by his grandson and a portrait of Dr. Laird by his daughter and Bishop Brown made a brief address and Bishop Tucker of Southern Virginia read a historical memorial of Dr. Packard, full of literary grace and charm, recalling the rare personality of "The dear old Rab." evoking both tears and laughter from his audience, many of whom had been students under Dr. Packard and his contemporary, Professor Rev. Dr. Trapnell of St. Andrews Church, Wilmington, Del., told of the saintly character of his intimate friend, Dr. Laird; and Mr. Joseph Packard of Baltimore, son of the former Dean, recalled the beginnings of the library from his boyhood memories.

Bandit Leader Confesses $1,000,000 Toledo Robbery

Toledo, June 3.—Harry Fisher, Toledo has entered a plea of guilty to each of 10 counts in an indictment charging him with conspiracy to dispose of bonds stolen in the $1,000,000 postoffice robbery, Stuart Bolin, special prosecutor, announced at noon today.

The plea was entered before Federal Judge Killits May 8, but has been kept secret to investigate certain revelations said to have been made by Fisher.

In announcing Fisher's plea of guilty Bolin also divulged the names of two of the actual postoffice robbers, who have not yet been apprehended. They are James Calson and Edward O'Brien. Both are named in the conspiracy and robbery indictment. It is alleged that they in company with Joe Urbaytis, George Rogers and Charles Schultz, took 10 mail sacks containing $1,000,000 in loot from the postoffice early in the morning of February 17.

The arraignment of Wanda Urbaytis, indicted yesterday with Father Gorek, of New Chicago, Ind., and four others, probably will be delayed until the priest and other defendants are brought here from Chicago.

Political Dynamite.

Tinkering with the tariff is playing with dynamite. It has always been so and so will it always be. Particularly is this true with Republican tinkering which is frankly tinkering in the interest of certain special groups of people in the country engaged in certain lines of business alleged to need "protection" against foreign competition. All of which Representative Joseph W. Fordney of Michigan, chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee is discovering to his surprise and consternation.

In framing the new tariff legislation, Mr. Fordney, who incidently is one of the greatest lumber barons in the country, had all arrangements nicely and neatly laid for a "small duty" on lumber. Just a harmless little dose of tariff, it was figured would greatly stimulate the lumber business in this country. That it would as well raise the selling price of lumber and net the lumber interests which Mr. Fordney represents many millions of dollars was of course never mentioned.

Unfortunately, however, for the tariff robbers, they ran up against two brazen facts in attempting to put a tariff on lumber over. This country is importing more than ninety per cent of the timber it uses and even at that runs the risk of denuding its forests in twenty five years. And it has a shortage of 1,500,000 homes.

With the result that a group of 40 Congressmen, with some influence in G. O. P. councils of state, and coming from the middle-west where the housing shortage is acute, have served notice on Mr. Fordney that "lumber must go on the free list" or they will join with the Democratic minority and fight the whole tariff bill.

Indications are that the lumber interests will capitulate and the house-builders of the nation will win. This is the first split in the Republican ranks on the tariff issue, but it will not be the last.

The Humanity of Mr. Hays.

Will Hays continues his valiant efforts to "humanize" the Post Office Department. The day before yesterday he sent out a lot of form letters to bureau chiefs in the Department, showing examples of the old letters Mr. Burleson used to have them written and of the same letters "humanized" as Mr. Hays would have them written.

It seems that Mr. Burleson committed the unpardonable and inhuman sin of beginning a letter, "Reference is made to your letter of the 10th instant," whereas Mr. Hays would have the same style of letter begin, "I have not been unmindful of your letter of the 10th instant."

This may be "humanizing" the Post Office Department but it occurs to some of us at least rather like taking twelve words to say something. Mr. Burleson said equally as well in ten.

In the Last Ditches.

Those who remember the sudden collapse of the Administration's opposition to the Borah disarmament amendment when it was being fought over in the Senate will not be surprised at the announcement that Republican leaders are scheduled to try their best to kill it when the Naval Bill comes to a readjustment in conference between the House and Senate. Mr. Harding and Senator Lodge made a brief stand against the Borah-Johnson coalition in the Senate but evidently had no taste for a protracted battle with the two spectacular Republican leaders from the wild and wooly west. Preferring discretion as the better part of valor, they decided to let Borah and Johnson have their way in the Senate and kill their disarmament proposition off in the House under more auspicious circumstances. It would be ridiculous, they apparently argued, to waste a lot of munition and suffer perhaps a few casualties storming a hill with two machine-gun nests in it when an open road to the same objective lay through a far more propitious battlefield.

They may have argued well but there is nevertheless an old adage which still holds good, "He who fights and runs away may live to fight another day."

CITY NEWS IN BRIEF

Mrs. Harry W. Wade is confined to her home, 207 South Royal street, by illness.

Major George H. Richards accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. O. H. Farrell, of Saltvile, Va., were guests yesterday at the Hotel Rammel.

Mrs. Emma Burke, of Washington, is the guest of her daughter, Mrs. W. C. Moore, at the latter's home in Duke street.

Mrs. Henry A. Taylor, of the Colonial Apartment, who has been very sick for the past four weeks, is slowly improving.

Governor Westmoreland Davis, accompanied by Mrs. Davis, and Colnel Legare, were guests at the Hotel Rammel yesterday, en route to their home at Leesburg.

Mrs. Elizabeth Keegan, and Mr. Benjamin Wheatley, of this city, and Mrs. Laurence Lowenbach, of Leesburg, were the guests of Midshipman Charles F. Keegan, at the Naval Academy ball last evening.

Ensign and Mrs. Horace Patterson and son, Cameron, have returned to their home in this city after spending several days visiting Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Patterson, at the Naval Proving Grounds, Indian Head.

Sergt. John Robert Avery, Jr., of New London, Conn., and Miss Pauline Stuart Boothe, daughter of Mr. N. D. Boothe, of Rosemont, were married Thursday evening, at the parsonage of the M. E. Church South, by the Rev. E. V. Register.

A gasoline stove was responsible for a small blaze at 7:30 o'clock this morning in a frame house on Alfred street between Wilkes and Wolfe street. The fire was extinguished before the arrival of the department

The weekly dinner of the Kiwanis Club was held yesterday afternoon in the Westminster Building and attended by about seventy-five members. U. S. Lambert presided. Speeches were made by Rev. Dr. E. V. Regester and Theodore Harris. Boost prizes were distributed by H. Noel Garner.

The George Mason High School had an easy victory over the Manassas High School Saturday, May 28. The score was 7 to 0. The George Mason's played an errorless game. Bob Saffell was in his prime, only allowing one hit. The features of the game were Ralph Saffell with two triples and Bob Saffell with a home run in the fifth inning, cleaning bases.

We wish to connect an error that was made on the part of the Triangle A. C. They did not defeat the George Mason H. S., but defeated a team made up by the Midgets and some out side players.

Manager, Frank Saffell, Jr.

IN MEMORIAM

In sad but loving remembrance of my dear father, WILLIAM G. SIMPSON, who departed from me two months ago today, April 3, 1921

As the evening sun is setting,
And I often sit alone,
In my heart there comes a feeling,
If my father could only come home
I dream of your face that I loved,
Your eyes I am longing to see,
I will never forget you father,
You were all in the world to me.

Weed Fine Disinfectant for Teeth And Gums. Dentist Says

Atlantic City, June 3.—Dr. William H. Gelston, of Camden, told the New Jersey tSate Dental Society, in annual convention here today, that an "old fashioned chew of tobacco," is one of the best disinfectants known to dental science.

He declared that if reformers succeeded in banishing tobacco, diseases of the teeth and gums are likely to increase.

DANCES HIGHLAND FLING AND SHIMMY ON 100th BIRTHDAY

Pittsburgh, June 3.—At a party given in honor of her one hundredth birthday yesterday afternoon, Mrs. Margaret Farmer, a native of Scotland, did a Highland fling for her guests, and then, adding indubitable evidence that a little thing like a century of life has not weighed heavily on her, she did a bit of a shimmy. A birthday cake baked by her granddaughter, Mrs. Andrew Krupetzer, and bearing 100 pink candles, was a feature of the celebration. Ice cream and pop, two confections in which Grandmother Farmer delights, there were plenty, and she indulged in both heartily.

DIED

KRAFT—Suddenly June 3rd, at 1:50 A. M., at her residence, 1216 Prince street, LYDIA A., beloved wife of Frank M. Kraft, youngest daughter of the late Andrew and Mary Penn Cheshire. Notice of funeral later. 132-1p.

A DAILY THOUGHT

As Sinoad the Sailor was sitting in the mansion which he had built in the City of Bagdad, he heard a poor porter in the street say:

"Men are not rewarded according to their merit. I have worked harder than Sinbad, and yet he lives in splendor and I live in misery."

Now like the poor porter are many of the workers of today. They work hard, perhaps, but mechanically, with out using the instrument which the Creator has placed at their disposal—the brain,—that great, constructive dynamo.

And there is less excuse for such complaining toilers in our modern complex life than existed for the poor porter.

Every city, and most communities, are filled with channels for the development of our mental powers—afternoon and evening courses, libraries, extension courses—all begging the ambitious to develop the infinite resources of the mind.

And yet, in every organization, you hear the porter's complaint. Isn't it time to stop complaining and buck up? Concentrate, study, develop. Climb the ladder of success. It stands before you.

GIRLS! BLEACH SKIN WHITE WITH LEMON

Squeeze the juice of two lemons into a bottle containing three ounces of Orchard White, which any drug store will supply for a few cents, shake well, and you have a quarter pint of harmless and delightful lemon bleach. Massage this sweetly fragrant lotion into the face, neck, arms and hands each day, then shortly note the beauty and whiteness of your skin.

Famous stage beauties use this lemon lotion to bleach and bring that soft, clear, rosy-white complexion, also as a freckle, sunburn, and tan bleach because it doesn't irritate.

NEW COMMANDER AND WIFE

Major Henry D. Bale And Wife Stationed In Baltimore, In Charge Of The Salvation Army Activities Of The Chesapeake Division Embracing Maryland, Virginia And Northeast West Virginia.

Major Henry Davey Bale, new divisional commander of the Chesapeake Division of the Salvation Army, who has recently come from Minneapolis, has had an extensive career in Salvation Army work, which really dates back to his birth as his parents were both Salvation Army officers.

He began his commissioned service in England, where he served eight appointments. Afterwards received and served nine appointments in Canada covering a period of eighteen years.

Since being transferred to the United States, Major Bale served in Chicago prior to being stationed in Minneapolis, where he made an enviable record in bringing his territory into considerable prominence. Commendations were showered upon him and promotion to commandership of the Chesapeake Division with headquarters in Baltimore followed. Major Bale hopes to make the Chesapeake Division the banner division of the East, and since his arrival all the evangelistical work has received a decided impetus.

Major Mary Griffith Bale, wife of Major Henry Davey Bale, new Divisional Commander of the Chesapeake Division of the Salvation Army, is a sister of Brigadier Griffith, of New York, who has been for a number of years Secretary to Commander Evangeline Booth.

Major Mary Bale shares rank and responsibility with her husband, and is making a systematic study and survey of the Salvation Army work in this Division. She has traveled extensively as Ensign Griffith before her marriage in 1899 to young Ensign Bale, and since that event has assisted him most ably in all of his assignments in England, Canada and the United States.

Major Mary Bale is a gifted musician and has already installed some new musical plans in her Division.

She is developing a most progressive and comprehensive program for extensive and intensive work to make Baltimore one of the leading centers in the East for women, girls and children's work.

THE PORT OF MISSING FRIENDS

World-Wide Bureau Locates Lost, Strayed or Stolen Human Beings.

The Salvation Army conducts the most extensive detective bureau in the world. The chain of branches from which the search goes forth reaches around the world and extends even to the leper colonies in Java and the criminal tribes of India. In seventy countries and colonies and over 7,000 cities, towns and villages throughout the world it has trained workers seeking those who have disappeared.

In the United States 1,900 inquiries for missing persons came into the Salvation Army last year. Out of this number The Salvation Army was successful in restoring over fifty per cent. or nearly 1,000 of the delinquents to their homes and families. Husbands and wives were reunited; lost, strayed or stolen children were restored to their parents and relatives, many of whom had come to America and forgotten to write home for several years, were finally rejoined through the efforts of The Salvation Army.

In Baltimore not long ago, a young girl disappeared from her home. Her parents kept a small shop and after all of their frantic efforts to locate her failed, they applied to the Salvation Army. Its Missing Friends Bureau began operations and after eleven months of absence that girl was restored to her people.

Lured away on a promise of marriage and a wonderful wedding journey, she was taken aboard a ship bound for South America, and was discovered only when that ship docked at a port in Argentine. There the girl was taken from the man, who needless to say, had not married her, and ill, destitute and wretched she was cared for by the Salvationists and later, when able to travel, was sent home to her people to begin life again.

The methods used by the Salvation Army to find these delinquents are many and varied. Sometimes an advertisement inserted in the War Cry, the Salvation Army's Weekly publication issued in most countries of the world, brings an old friend, a former employer or an old letter. Sometimes Baltimore has a unique factory in its midst—a throbbing beehive of activity and production. It is unlike any of the other jobs and production plants of the city because its first purpose is to remake men.

In doing this it is a powerful factor in the building of citizenship and good government and in the combatting of Bolshevism and anarchy.

This man factory is to be found in the Industrial Home of the Salvation Army at Sharp and Montgomery streets, where derelicts of every description and from every cause, whether from drugs, drink, crime, misfortune or prison stigma, find refuge and once again eat a square meal and occupy a real bed. Pitiful, helpless, friendless, homeless, jobless and penniless, are the bits of wretched manhood that make up the procession that enters here.

They leave it after a time, remade, regenerated, rejuvenated, ready to face the world again, to once more hold down a steady job, to pay their debts, take up their duties and discharge their obligations. In short, they again take their places in the world as good citizens and producers—taxpayers, instead of tax consumers. How is this done? What is the solution of such transformations? By the love of God and the brotherly kindness of the Salvation Army, that has learned through half a century's experience how to handle and to help men to help themselves.

Frequently the men who apply for a meal and bed are too weak and exhausted by dissipation, illness, lack of proper food, etc., to do any more than sort of bail papers and when that is through, they are assigned just the barest amount of work to earn the first meal. This calls for the sorting of twenty-five pounds of paper means a meal and a bed.

It is always the policy to ascertain the trade or vocation with which the man is familiar and then to put him at that type of work. In order to furnish such a wide range of activities as represented in the constant strain of down and outers, that apply for help here. The Salvation Army long since solved the problem by putting the human wastage to work on the vast assortment of wastage of clothing, furniture and general odds and ends which the public pours forth from attics and store rooms as being no further use. This material is collected by the Salvation Army wagons, usually driven by men seeking to "come back" by this route. It is cleaned, sorted, repaired, also by men as part of their remaking and when the conglomeration of repaired furniture, garments, shoes, etc., are in good shape, and they are sold to people, glad of the chance to outfit families or housekeeping quarters from a source that meet the limitations of the most meager purse. Though the purchase of such a garment or bit of furniture is made for a few cents carries with it its measure of self-respect. Thus in the shops of the Salvation Army Industrial Home all sorts and conditions of trades find their exponents.

The shop at Sharp and Montgomery streets, while providing work and shelter for the men nobody wants, has contributed in a valuable capacity to the solution of the paper shortage which has been nation wide. Here they have collected, sorted, balled and returned to the paper mills for remanufacture in the past year 461 tons of waste paper that would otherwise have been lost.

They have provided meals for 17,620 men, beds for 5,873 men who would otherwise have been shelterless or else found their way back to jail through vagrancy; 448 garments and 68 pairs of shoes (all of these repaired in this shop) have been given to the desperately needy and 473 men have been helped through these means toward rehabilitation.

While the Salvation Army looks after the body of a man first it does so with a view to reaching his soul. In this home last year, there were 122 evangelistic meetings held with an attendance of 2,240 and eleven conversions are proudly reported. Despite the best efforts of the Army, it never can accommodate all that appear for help because of lack of room, beds and funds with which to operate, and while it spares no effort to fan to life the most dormant spark of manhood and ambition, it must of necessity be financed in order to finance these men through their feeble efforts to gain control of themselves and to be producers. The Salvation Army therefore welcomes the opportunity to collect all of the salvage of every description that comes within its reach.

After Fever She Gains 50 Pounds

Mrs. Bragg Overjoyed by the Way Tanlac Restored Her Strength

"I am down in bed as helpless a baby when I began taking Tanlac, but by the time I had finished my third bottle I was walking around and now am enjoying asbolutely perfect health," said Mrs. C. E. Bragg, 401 Lynn Street, Danville, Va.

"I was down in bed fo ra long time with fever, and was so weak I couldn't even turn over I wasn't able to take any nourishment at all hardly and I had fallen off so much in weight that it frightened me to even think about it. Why, I was nothing more than a mere shadow of what I used to be and just did have the strength to move my hands about a little.

"My right leg was swollen from my knee down to my foot. It was hard for me to breathe, my nerves were worn to a frazzle and it just seemed that I couldn't get any sleep.

"Finally after the fever left me, and I got so I could look over the papers a little, I read a statement about Tanlac and sent for a bottle. I seemed to feel stronger after each dose and began to eat better and sleep better. When I finished the second bottle I was sitting up in bed and in a short while was able to walk around.

"From then on my improvement was rapid and by the time I had finished the sixth bottle I was doing my housework all by myself and felt perfectly well an every respect. This was more than a year ago and ever since I have been in perfect health. My appetite continues splendid and I have actually gained fifty pounds in weight. I am not one bit nervous, sleep soundly and, to tell the truth, am never troubled in any way whatever."

Reward

Do you know this man?

Height: 6 ft. 1 inch Face: Thin
Weight: 145 lbs. Features: Prominent

DESCRIPTION: When last seen was on his way to hospital. Used to weigh 185, had ruddy complexion, good appetite and enthusiasm for work. Six months ago began to have irregular bowel movements. Took pills. Lost weight—still irregular. Took salts—violent results. Had medical examination: doctor diagnosed case as self-poisoning, due to clogged, decaying food waste in large intestine; said pills and purges had weakened the intestinal muscles so they would not function. Man protested violently that he was not sick. Doctor replied that he had been sick since first bowel irregularity. Prescribed complete rest and the Nujol treatment. Said if he had cultivated regular habits with Nujol he would have had no trouble.

REWARD: For restoration of this man to regularity, Nature offers reward of health, and return to normal weight and keenness.

If you are the man apply at the nearest drug store for one bottle of

Nujol For Constipation

Nujol works on an entirely new principle.

Instead of forcing or irritating the system, it simply softens the food waste. This enables the many tiny muscles in the walls of the intestines, contracting and expanding in their normal way, to squeeze the food waste along so that it passes naturally out of the system.

Nujol thus prevents constipation because it helps Nature maintain easy, thorough bowel evacuation at regular intervals—the healthiest habit in the world.

Nujol is absolutely harmless and pleasant to take. Try it

A Nation-Wide Employment Bureau

With the return of the discharged soldier from overseas the problems of employment, unemployment and proper employment rose to paramount importance, where they have remained ever since. All organizations that were at all qualified to cope with the problems lent every effort, but none of them worked more effectively than the Salvation Army.

It was not a new work for the Salvation Army, merely an old job enlarged and broadened. For many years through many an unemployment crisis the organization has successfully conducted what is probably one of the most efficient interstate employment agencies with branches in every large city throughout the length and breadth of the land.

During the last year The Salvation Army found employment for 65,000 men and women. The positions found ranged anywhere from the lowest positions of unskilled labor to the most highly specialized professional work with, of course, a great preponderance toward the former, for in employment as in everything else the primary object of The Salvation Army is to help those who cannot help themselves.

Nor does the work of The Salvation Army stop with fitting the job to the man. It makes the man fit the job as well. Those who apply for work shabby and down at the heel are given good clothing and neat shoes in order that they may apply for the positions to which the Army sends them with no physical handicaps. Scores of soldiers discharged from the army with little or no money have found a warm friend, financial aid and a free suit of civilian clothes in The Salvation Army Employment Bureau.

BOY BANDS

What live boy does not sometime wildly crave to play in a band?—try out his ability on cornet, flute or drum. Many a man is now in Salvation Army ranks because when he was a blase bored, restless, street gamin, some big hearted Salvation Army Officer sensed the cry of a soul for music and coaxed him into the hall, first to hear the other fellows play and later invited him to try to make a noise himself. No normal boy could resist the chance because in his innermost heart he is certain that he could play just as well as any fellow in the bunch if he had half a chance to try.

The Army gives them not only half a chance but a whole chance over and over again until before they hardly realize it they are able to play and play well. The regular practice keeps them off the streets, away from gambling dens, out of craps shooting and fighting and surrounds them over those periods at least with uplifting influence. By and by they get into the uniform, and though other interests beckon, the bands hold them when every other appeal fails and many of them not only cling to this Association as Soldiers, but eventually become Salvation Army Officers. This is another splendid type of preventative work which reaches and appeals to boys from ten to fifteen, many of whom actually beg for the privilege of joining.

In Baltimore, Captain Albert Turkington, skilled band leader, who has recently been transferred from the South, is already finding his corps hall a magnet to the boys of the neighborhood eager to join his band which is already about twenty-five in number. Instruments and uniforms are provided for these players and along with the playing, they are also encouraged to sing, for the Army believes in music and plenty of it.

On its Roster at the present time in the United States there are 9,422 bandsmen and something like 25,000 songsters.

ARE THE JAPANESE REALLY EFFICIENT?

Not If You Judge Them By Their Telephones, Says Julian Street

Although the Western World has begun to take for granted that the Japanese have reached an enviable position in the world because of an alleged efficiency in all matters, a close inspection of actual facts shows up the Jap as almost childish. Writing for McClure's Magazine in an article entitled, "Are the Japanese Efficient?" Julian Street, noted traveler and writer, gives many instances of stupid Japanese inefficiency, particularly as to telegraphs, telephones and transportation.

"Tokyo, with a transportation problem which ought easily to be solved, has utterly inadequate street car service," says Mr. Street. "The rush hour there is only saved from being as terrible as the rush hour in New York by the lack of subterranean features.

"But it is in all matters having to do with communications that Japanese inefficiency is most strikingly brought to the notice of strangers. The postal service is poor, the cable service is expensive and absurdly slow (when I was in Japan it took about ten days to cable to America and get an answer back), and the telephone service is unbelievably awful. All these, like the railroads, are owned and operated by the Government.

This is about the happiest combination yet brought out this season. It seemingly meets almost every need, and can be worn with almost any costume.

The materials are georgette and taffeta. Some have georgette crowns, some with transparent brims, and they are trimmed with flowers, some with ostrich feathers, and they are smart enough to wear with a sport costume, chic enough to wear with more dressy apparel.

We also are showing a splendid assortment of Italian Milan Hand-blocked Hats, body hats of oatmeal braid, which are, strictly speaking, true sport styles. These are trimmed with flowers and most of them underfaced with georgette.

GIRL BRIDE OF WEEK SEEKS DEATH BY POISON

Sewell, N. J., June 3.—The romance of her young life shattered, Emma Brown Bruynell, a 15 year old bride of less than a week, sought to end it all by swallowing poison yesterday afternoon. She is in a critical condition at the home of her parents, with but slight chance of recovering.

Emma Brown, still a school girl, eloped to Elkton last week with Thomas Bruynell, a young man whom she had known for years. They procured a marriage license in the Maryland Gretna Green and found no difficulty in having the ceremony performed despite the girl's age.

Upon their return the bride's parents had Bruynell arrested. They allege that in applying for a marriage license the age of their daughter was falsified. Bruynell, it is claimed, was perfectly willing to support his young wife, but her parents were obdurate and insisted that the marriage would have to be annulled.
